THE Senate of Venice, is very buſy about means to prevent the Conſequences that might otherwiſe attend a Piece of Imprudence committed againſt the Duke de Montemar: That General having been very much taken up with viſiting the Poſts poſſeſs'd by his Troops in the Vicentine, and reſolving to lie at Montagnano in his Way, he came there about Midnight, and found the Gates of the Town ſhut: He immediately call'd to have them opened, but the Officer of the Guard abſolutely refus'd it, under Pretence that it was too unſeaſonable an Hour: The Duke, irritated at this Refuſal, order'd the Town to be block'd up on the Spot by 5000 Men, and then went and lay in a Village. As ſoon as it was Day he ſent to demand to have the Officer, who refus'd to open the Gates for him, deliver'd up, to be us'd as he thought fit; upon which the Governor of the Place ſent an Expreſs to the Senate for their Orders on that Head. In the mean time the Spaniard, until he receives Satisfaction, cauſes all the Trees and Vines within a League round Montagnano to be cut down.

Dublin, October 9.

On Tueſday laſt the 7th Inſtant, the Parliament having met according to the Prorogation, his Grace the Lord Lieutenant went in State to the Houſe of Peers, and being ſeated on the Throne with the uſual Ceremony, his Grace ſent for the Commons, and made a SPEECH to both Houſes, who unanimouſly reſolved upon humble and dutiful ADDRESSES to His Majeſty, which were this Day preſented to his Grace. The Speech and Addreſſes follow.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

FROM the Experience of your former Behaviour, I make no doubt but you are met together with Hearts full of Duty, Affection and Loyalty to His Majeſty, and zealouſly diſpos'd to do what is neceſſary for the Safety, Honour and Happineſs of this his Kingdom, which is all I have to recommend to you.

Since therefore the Service of the KING, and the Good of the Country, are the Ends we all aim at, I hope we ſhall agree in the Means of attaining them, and purſue them with that Temper and Wiſdom which Conſiderations of Importance require.

The Improvement of the Linnen and Hempen Manufactures, will be always uppermoſt in the Thoughts of thoſe who wiſh well to this Kingdom; and I can therefore never omit any Opportunity of recommending them to your particular Care and Attention.

Great room ſtill remains for enlarging theſe beneficial Branches of Trade; and the extending and ſpreading them over thoſe Provinces where they have not yet prevail'd, will be of the higheſt Advantage to your ſelves and tend to remove all Occaſions of Jealouſy and Complaint, with regard to the Woollen Manufacture.

Theſe are the Matters of the greateſt Conſequence to the Welfare of this Kingdom, and nothing will be a more acceptable Proof of the Wiſdom and Prudence of your Deliberations, than the preparing ſuch Laws as may increaſe your own Trade, and at the ſame time prevent any illegal Incroachments upon that of Great Britain.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I have ordered the proper Officers to lay before you the ſeveral Accounts and Eſtimates, which, I have reaſon to think, will meet with your Approbation, and am perſwaded you will moſt chearfully and effectually raiſe the neceſſary Supplies to ſupport his Majeſty's Government with Honour, and provide for the National Debt.

If a Stop were put to that moſt pernicious Practice of the clandeſtine Running of Goods, I make no doubt, but that the Publick Revenues would fully anſwer the Expence of the preſent Eſtabliſhment.

Let it therefore be your Care, to frame ſuch Heads of a Bill, as may guard and ſecure the juſt Payment of the Duties you ſhall think proper to Grant; and you may be aſſur'd they will be always applied to the Purpoſes for which they were intended.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I have taken all Occaſions to repreſent to his Majeſty the Circumſtances of this Kingdom, and your Zeal for his Service; and that his great Goodneſs in laying hold of every Opportunity to promote your Proſperity leaves no room to doubt the good Effects of ſuch Repreſentations.

You cannot but be ſenſible of the ſingular Happineſs we enjoy, that while the greateſt part of Europe is oppreſs'd with the Calamities of War, his Majeſty's Royal Care and Counſels have hitherto preſerv'd to his Subjects all the Benefit of Peace and Tranquility. I am perſwaded that this will not fail to excite in you the moſt grateful Acknowledgements of the Bleſſings of Peace, and at the ſame Time the utmoſt Readineſs to take that Part upon all Occaſions, which the Honour of his Majeſty, and the Intereſt of this Country ſhall require.

To the KING's moſt Excellent Majeſty. The Humble ADDRESS of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

WE Your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled, being truly ſenſible of the Happineſs we enjoy under your Majeſty's mild and auſpicious Reign, beg leave to aſſure your Majeſty, that we ſhall on all Occaſions ſhew by our Actions, the inviolable Loyalty and Affection we have for your Royal Perſon and illuſtrious Family. And that we will prepare ſuch Laws, as may beſt promote your Majeſty's Service, and the Happineſs of this Nation, with Diſpatch, Temper, and Unanimity.

Being convinced that the Linnen and Hempen Manufactures are the moſt improveable Branches of our Trade, we will do whatever lies in our Power to extend the Benefit of them throughout the whole Kingdom. And as it is our Deſire, ſo we ſhall always make it our Care, that our Trade in general may be ſo carried on, as to preſerve a perfect Harmony between us and Great Britain.

We gratefully acknowledge your Majeſty's Goodneſs, in continuing us under the prudent Adminiſtration of his Grace the Duke of Dorſet, whoſe great Experience and Knowledge in the Affairs

Affairs and Circumſtances of this Kingdom, we are ſenſible have been ſucceſsfully employed for your Majeſty's Honour and the Publick Welfare.

We are perſwaded it has been owing to your Majeſty's Vigilance and wiſe Counſels, that we ſtill enjoy the Bleſſings of Peace, while moſt of the Neighbouring Nations are involv'd in the Calamities of War.

May your Majeſty's Endeavours for the general Tranquility always have the deſired Succeſs. But permit us to aſſure your Majeſty, that in all Events, we ſhall chearfully take that Part, which ſhall be for your Majeſty's Honour and the Intereſt of this Kingdom.

En. Sterne, Cler' Parliament.

The Lord Lieutenant's Anſwer.

I WILL forthwith tranſmit this dutiful and affectionate Addreſs, in order to be laid before his Majeſty.

To the KING's moſt Excellent Majeſty, The humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes in Parliament aſſembled.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament aſſembled, beg leave to take this Opportunity of aſſuring your Majeſty of our conſtant Duty, Loyalty and Affection, and of our determin'd Zeal for your Majeſty's ſacred Perſon and Government.

We beg leave to aſſure your Majeſty, that all our Conſultations ſhall be carried on with Unanimity and Temper, as the moſt convincing Proof that we think your Majeſty's Service, and the Good of our Country, to be inſeparable.

As we are fully perſwaded that the Flaxen and Hempen Manufactures are the greateſt and moſt valuable Branches of our Trade, ſo we ſhall (under your Majeſty's moſt Royal Protection) apply our utmoſt Induſtry and Care to their Improvement, and endeavour to extend them in ſuch a manner as may remove all Occaſion of Jealouſy, with regard to the Woollen Manufactures of this Kingdom.

We aſſure your Majeſty, we think our Safety and Preſervation depend on the firm Eſtabliſhment of the Crown in your Majeſty and your Royal Houſe; and that we will, with the greateſt Chearfulneſs, ſupport your Majeſty's Government with Honour, and provide for the Debt of the Nation; and at the ſame time uſe our ſtrongeſt Endeavours and Application to guard and ſecure your Majeſty's Duties, and prevent the pernicious Practice of Running of Goods.

Permit us to return your Majeſty our moſt dutiful and unfeigned Thanks for taking the Circumſtances of this Kingdom into your Royal Conſideration, and to aſſure your Majeſty, we cannot but look upon it as a particular Inſtance of your tender Concern for the Welfare of this Nation, that you have been pleaſed to continue to us a Chief Governor, whom his great Wiſdom and Experience in this Government have rendered moſt deſired of your People, and whoſe Adminiſtration hath been equally diſtinguiſhed by the greateſt Zeal for your Majeſty's Honour, and the Good of your faithful Subjects.

We cannot look on your Majeſty's paternal Care of all your People, in preſerving to them the Benefits of Peace, whilſt the greateſt Part of Europe is oppreſs'd with War, without expreſſing our utmoſt Gratitude to your Majeſty, nor without aſſuring your Majeſty, that we will, with the greateſt Chearfulneſs (as we have ever done) take that Part which your Honour and the Intereſt of the Country may require.

The Lord Lieutenant's Anſwer.

But after having taken a few Potions of your Elixir, am, to my own Happineſs, and the great Surprize of thoſe who ſaw me, perfectly recover'd. This Acknowledgement, Sir, before your Thoughts of Publiſhing your Elixir, I've privately made to you; but now, with an Intention that thoſe who may unhappily labour under the ſame Diſorder, may know where to apply for Relief, I take the Opportunity of publickly acknowledging that I am, SIR,
